Kimberly-Clark Pension Scheme

Your options at retirement

We understand that choosing how to take your Scheme pension is a big decision. We want you to be able to consider your options properly so that you can make an informed decision that's right for you.

The Trustee and Kimberly-Clark have appointed a firm of financial advisers, regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority (FCA), called Isio Wealth Planning (Isio) to help you explore your options and decide which one is right for you.

This guide explains the different types of retirement support available from Isio – guidance or advice – and how to book your preferred session.

What is retirement support?

Your confidential one-to-one retirement support session is a 45-minute online video call. It guides you through your retirement options and helps you:

- plan your retirement with confidence
- feel assured that you've considered and understand all the available choices.

Guidance or advice?

Guidance helps you understand your options so that you can make your own informed choice.

- A retirement specialist from Isio talks you through your options, taking your Kimberly-Clark pension into account.
- They won't recommend a retirement option but will explain each one.
- You don't need to provide any information in advance.
- You receive a set of actions based on your guidance conversation.
- You might ask:
 - what are my options from the Scheme?
 - how do my other pension schemes work and what are my options?
 - how much income can I expect?
 - what do I need to consider when deciding if I can afford to retire based on my current pension savings?

Advice provides recommendations about what you should do for each of your pensions being discussed.

- A regulated financial adviser from Isio explains your options based on your circumstances.
- They recommend a retirement choice for each of your pensions.
- You must complete a fact find in advance of your session, giving detailed information on your personal circumstances and existing finances.
- You receive a report with a formal recommendation to meet your retirement goals.
- You might ask:
 - which retirement option should I choose?
 - how much should I draw as income from my pension pot and assets?
 - should I consolidate my savings?
 - is my investment strategy appropriate for my goals?

Everything you discuss is confidential, and no personal information is shared with anyone.
